

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to a protective tube comprising a plurality of threads which are braided, knit-braided or knitted to one another. The invention is characterised in 5 that the length of the cross-section of the threads along a first axis is substantially greater than the length of said cross-section along a second axis which is perpendicular to the first.